LONDON, Feb. 25.—Possibility that Germany may be planning a blow against Gibraltar, mighty British Mediterranean fortress, was discussed in London today as Britons probed Chancellor Hitler's Munich speech for a hint of where he may strike.

Belief that Gibraltar may be the object of sustained attacks was strengthened by Hitler's announcement of a huge Italian-German sea offensive, featuring by newly built U-boats and designed to shatter British naval power and commerce and thus knock Britain out of the war.

For some time British military experts have believed that Hitler's

BUDAPEST, Feb. 25.—While reports in Budapest said the Germans would carry out a "cold" seizure of vital airports and communication centers, King Boris of Bulgaria received 12 opposition political leaders and frankly confessed that little could be done.

He continued to hold out hope that peace and neutrality could be preserved. But he was obviously pessimistic over the possibility of reprisals by Great Britain and Tur-

Tight Censorship
Sofia authorities clamped down the tightest censorship in the city's history. But reports trickling thru told of Boris' dramatic meeting with the political leaders, new military preparations by the Bulgarian high command and a growing exodus of foreign residents.

Hunt Person Sending Three False Alarms

Firemen Needlessly Called
Three Times In Couple Of Hours During Night

War has been declared today on one of the worst enemies of any community—that morose and cowardly person who delights in turning in false alarms.

Fire Chief James E. Thomas made the declaration today on the heels of three false alarms turned in during the lapse of a little more than an hour late Monday night and shortly after midnight.

The first alarm, turned in from box 46 at 11:55 o'clock, sent firemen scurrying to the corner of Ray and East Washington streets.

Nineteen minutes later, 12:14 a. m., a second false alarm came from box 33, Croton avenue and Cascade street. At 1:17 a. m. firemen were sent dashing over treacherous streets again, this time to the same intersection. The alarm was turned in from box 33 again.

Fire Chief Thomas stated that he believes the same person is responsible for all three alarms. Thomas added:

"The practice is extremely dangerous, especially during this time of the year. The icy condition of streets endangers apparatus as well as the lives of firemen and motorists. If we apprehend the responsible person or persons, we will prosecute to the fullest extent."

So far this year, nine false alarms have been turned in. One-third of them were registered overnight.

Berlin Press Asserts U.S. Help Will Never Save Great Britain

BERLIN, Feb. 25.—All the help the United States can give will never save England from destruction, the Berlin press said today in announcing that the stupendous total of 250,000 tons of enemy shipping was sunk in the last two days.

As the German high command announced a 48-hour achievement even exceeding the claims made by Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler in his Munich speech yesterday, the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung said it was a "mathematical certainty" the German navy and air force would frustrate American aid.

"More ships are being sunk than are being built," the influential D. A. Z. said in its leading editorial. "Simple accounting shows it is physically impossible to transport more goods to England than are being shipped at present."

Even if she desired to fetch additional material from the United States, she would have to cut down other vital imports such as food and raw goods.

The high command based its quarter-million-ton announcement on latest reports received in Berlin from U-boat commanders and Luftwaffe captains.

Navy spokesmen, who did not divulge the names of the men in the planes, said they were returning to their base following a routine training flight.

Makes Report On Guns Transferred To Great Britain

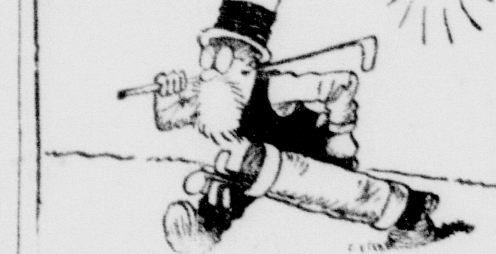

By ROBERT A. MCGILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Secretary of War Stimson has advised the Senate Foreign Relations committee that 895 of the French 75 millimeter guns on the U. S. Army were transferred to Great Britain after the evacuation at Dunkirk, along with thousands of old machine guns and rifles, it was disclosed today.

Stimson, according to testimony to be made public, also testified that 856,000 used rifles of the Enfield type, of which 250,000 went to Canada, 24,000 old-style machine guns, 62,000 obsolete air type machine guns and 25,000 old automatic rifles were transferred at the same time.

The figures were given to the committee by Stimson after a committee member asked "whether it was true that 800,000 rifles, 40,000 machine guns, and 80,000 French 75's had been transferred to Great Britain after Dunkirk."

Two Boys In Gun Battle With Police

Shooting Lasts For Three Hours

Two Fourteen Year Old Boys Turn Bungalow Into Virtual Arsenal

FINALLY ROUTED BY TEAR GAS BOMBS

(International News Service)
PATERSON, N. J., Feb. 25.—Two 14-year-old school boys climaxed a week-end of crime before dawn today by turning a deserted summer bungalow into a virtual arsenal and shooting it out for more than three hours with 15 policemen.
Armed with five rifles, three shot-guns and 1,000 rounds of ammunition, part of their three-day loot, the youths finally were routed out by tear gas bombs hurled through the bullet-shattered windows of the cottage on the edge of Echo Lake in West Milford, N. J.

Hundred Shots Exchanged
More than 100 shots were exchanged between the two boys, crouched behind windows and doors, and the police who shot from behind trees. Miraculously, no one was hurt in the wild fusillade.

The boys, a pair of runaways, who were reported by police to have admitted stealing 14 automobiles, including a police car, in the last few days, were Emmett Jones and William Hunter, both Paterson school boys.

The youthful gunmen, who also were armed with five hunting knives, told police that they had gathered their arsenal when they raided a number of cottages in the Echo Lake colony yesterday.

Began Last Night
The wild shooting fray began at 10 p. m. last night when police, in response to a call from one of the year-round residents of the resort, approached a cabin where prowlers reportedly had been seen.

A knock on the door was answered by a shot. Police, reinforced by New Jersey state troopers, immediately took cover, and opened fire. Finally, the officers tossed two tear gas bombs into the bungalow.

At 1:20 a. m., after three hours of shooting, the door swung open and the police—who expected to see hardened gunmen emerge—were amazed when the two slightly-built school boys walked out with their hands in the air.

Both boys will be arraigned in Paterson later today on charges of juvenile delinquency—the stiffest criminal charge possible under New Jersey laws, in view of their youth.

is vital to this country's defense and therefore there is justification for letting the British have the required materials.
In reply, the Soviets have charged bad faith. They take the position that Soviet machine tool requirements in this country constitute only about three per cent of American production and that is a small price to pay for Soviet friendship in world affairs at the present time.

Wants Recognition

In the political field, Moscow still wants American recognition of the Baltic states' incorporation into the Soviet Union. The United States government flatly refuses to grant this concession on the grounds that American foreign policy is opposed to recognition of territory acquired by force.

Moscow, it was indicated, might be prepared to overlook the Baltic issue for the time being, but it is extremely resentful about the American government's refusal to let it have the machine tool supplies already ordered.

The Soviets feel that the United States is making the same mistake that Great Britain made in 1939 when, by refusing to grant Russian demands concerning an Anglo-French-Russian alliance, it discovered that while it was hesitating, Moscow concluded a pact with Germany.

All-Night Blackout

Possibility of war conditions resulting from the anticipated German occupation was brought home to the populace as the nation emerged from its first all-night blackout.

Last night the "little men" of Bulgaria sat in darkened homes wondering how long they would remain citizens of a neutral nation. And henceforth the information on which they will base their speculation will be scarce.

The Sofia government already has introduced military censorship over postal facilities, telephone service and the Bulgarian press.

In addition, eight leading members of the leftist Agrarian party, including Damian Velcheff, a former cabinet minister, were interned on grounds they constituted a "danger to public order."

Hugh quantities of food have been stored in southern Bulgarian towns for use of the army, and other preparations have been completed against the moment that Bulgaria may find herself flung into the war by the pressure of events.

Diplomatic quarters reiterated their belief that the Germans, rather than subjecting Bulgaria to complete military occupation, may take over merely strategic points and air-dromes, thereby gaining a sort of "invisible" but nonetheless effective grip on the country.

open the Burma road to aid China but that plans envisage defense of the Dutch East Indies.

Breaking with Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., his colleague Murray, appealed for support for the bill in a prepared speech on the ground that it is to America's best interest to help Britain win.

Would Menace America

A Hitler victory he declared, would menace America, strangle her world trade, lead to permanent militarization and bankruptcy and destruction of democracy.

The bill, he said, "undertakes to insure us against involvement in war by empowering the president to give material and effective aid to those countries whose defense is necessary to our defense."

"Upon the basis of a full consideration of the acknowledged aims and ambitions of Hitler, no one can now doubt that the accomplishment of his designs will directly affect and seriously endanger the safety and security of this country," said Murray.

Already he has invaded and conquered the greater part of Europe. He has condemned the people of those conquered nations to a state of practical slavery. His plan is to concentrate the great industrial activities of Europe in Germany and become the dominant industrial power of the world. He proposes to establish a new world order after the image of a Nazi-dominated Europe.

State of Alarm

Thus, he said, Hitler has produced a state of alarm in America and "The greatest crisis in our history." He added that "there can be no peace for our country if Hitler wins, because his system is at war with ours and we will eventually clash."

"The correct policy of this country, therefore, should be one which will block the success of the totalitarian movement in Europe and end its threat to our peace here in the United States," he declared.

Murray said that a Hitler victory would mean "the end of our American system of free enterprise," and that "we would be compelled by necessity to reorganize under totalitarian principles, or go into communism or socialism." The Montanan said he had full faith in President Roosevelt's pledge "to keep us out of war."

Barbour analyzed the American defense program and its relation to Hitler's march across Europe.

NAZI ATTACK ON GIBRALTAR MAY BE PLANNED

alternative plans—or even an item in a series of simultaneous strokes—would include a sudden overland attempt to take Gibraltar, render the western Mediterranean unhealthy for British warships and compel the British to base their fleet there at the eastern end.

But London quarters feel that such an attempt by Hitler would meet undoubted opposition from both the Vichy government and Spain under the present Franco-Spanish setup.

Would Be Hazardous

This, it was claimed, would make a German military passage through the Pyrenees possibly beset with considerable difficulties. It would compel the Nazis with a long line of communications through an "impoverished and hostile Spain," British quarters argued, and at the same time would embarrass the Germans with a vulnerable flank in Portugal.

Yet British experts feel the prize—Gibraltar and control of the western Mediterranean—is rich enough to tempt Hitler if he feels the odds against success are not too long.

But the British themselves hold many cards, Gibraltar, they say, can be defended from the rear against an overland attack as a result of recent improvements to its defenses—and it would be reinforced the moment Hitler began a drive through Spain.

The big artillery batteries erected on Spanish soil and raiding bombers operating from Spanish bases could, perhaps, make the Gibraltar naval base itself untenable. But here again the British could take immediate protective action, increasing the strength of their land guns and harry enemy air bases with planes from aircraft carriers.

See Impossible Task

Subjugation of the rock itself, British sources state, would be a "horse of another color." Considered British expert opinion is that this would prove an impossible task unless the invader had command of the sea.

As long as the British fleet is master of the sea and as long as French Premier Marshal Henri Philippe Petain holds on to the French ports in unoccupied France, London circles feel any attempt against Gibraltar is bound to fail, whatever success on land might be achieved.

This belief is illustrated by British reaction to Hitler's Munich address. The British have pointed out that now, after Hitler has spoken, it remains to be seen whether his threat to intensify submarine warfare bears fruit.

If the promised German submarine campaign does not succeed, according to informed British circles, there can be small prospect of a major attack on Gibraltar.

The opinion is growing that such matters as an invasion of Britain or an attack on Gibraltar now depend increasingly upon the results of the Nazi spring submarine warfare.

British authorities are taking a sober view of the U-boat threat and have made fullest possible preparations to combat it.

One thing seems certain. Britain has no intention of allowing the submarine to rule the Atlantic and the Mediterranean without first putting up the grimmest kind of fight.

BRITAIN RENEWS BOMBARDING OF INVASION BASES

bombers today lashed out against German invasion bases and the channel ports where Adolf Hitler has based the submarines and warships with which he now hopes to crush Britain.

Soon after an official communiqué told of a devastating night raid on Brest in an effort to put a 10,000-ton German cruiser out of commission waters along the southeast coast of large numbers of R. A. F. bombers speeding across the channel on missions of destruction.

The bombers swept out over the southeast coast toward the invasion ports in close and perfect formation. It was obvious the R. A. F. was carrying out the attacks on an extensive scale.

Once out over the channel, the planes split up fanwise and headed toward the opposite coast at different angles. A haze prevented a view of the French coast.

Observers were unable to estimate the exact number of planes involved. But at least sixty were counted as the craft roared overhead for ten minutes, bound for attacks in the face of previously reported furious anti-aircraft fire.

HEARING ENDS ON BRIDGE PROPOSAL

Throop and Mayor Charles B. Mayne, others who spoke in behalf of the project at the hearing were Louis B. Round, vice president and general manager of the Pennsylvania Power company; James B. Foster, local real estate man, and Paul Keeley, president of the Lawrence county chapter of the Pennsylvania Truckers Association.

In refutation of arguments over the cost, the county commissioners presented a letter from E. L. Schmidt, district engineer of the Pennsylvania highway department, in which he estimated that the bridge itself would cost around $160,000 with an additional cost of $50,000 for the approaches.

No other witnesses appeared to speak against the building or locating the bridge at this point, and the hearing was concluded.

be placed on each of the nine city fire trucks and the fire chief's car. The idea of the course, which is sponsored by the city, was originated by Chief James E. Thomas and George W. Harper, assistant chief.

The city can now boast of having one of the largest and most qualified first aid squads in the district.

Shortly after the news was released, plans got underway immediately for the organization of a first aid rescue squad among the men who passed the course.

"The most important item we need is an emergency car. We have a lot of confidence that we will secure this important item soon," one of the men said.

R. A. F. BOMBERS POUND NAZI HELD BIG FRENCH PORT

enemy cruiser of the (10,000-ton) Admiral Hipper class was last known to be lying.

"Despite very heavy anti-aircraft fire the first attack was pressed home and the target was straddled in all directions by many sticks of heavy bombs."

"All the British aircraft returned."

Dropped Heavy Explosives

Amplifying this communicate the air ministry said that the bombers that attacked the Brest docks used by German naval units dropped very heavy loads of high explosives which fell in the area where the cruiser of the Admiral Hipper class was berthed.

Some of the bombs were among the most powerful used for a target of this kind, the ministry stated.

The raid on Brest lasted nearly two hours, beginning about 8 p. m. The port was heavily defended, the ministry said, and British planes had to penetrate a fierce barrage of anti-aircraft fire.

The British raid on Brest was the 41st of the war and the fifth attack the French "invasion port" has suffered in six nights.

British quarters expressed special satisfaction over last night's attack on Brest, which was delivered by the R. A. F. only a few hours after Chancellor Hitler's threat of an intensified U-boat campaign.

Chief Sub Base

Brest has been serving as the chief German ocean-going submarine base.

rine base and also as the point from which the new German long-range Atlantic bombing planes have been operating.

Authoritative London circles declared the raid on Brest was a heavy one, but said it was by no means the largest carried out by the R. A. F.

According to the air ministry German attacks on England during the night were relatively slight. Incendiary and high explosives bombs were dropped on various points in East Anglia, but the communiqué said damage and casualties were not large.

In one East Anglian town, however, at least ten persons were killed and many were seriously injured when the German night raiders, operating in Paris, dropped flares and innumerable incendiaries and then tons of high explosives. Business premises, a hotel, shops and dwellings were demolished.

Flares, incendiaries and high explosives were dropped on a second East Anglian town, causing several casualties, while a third town in the same district was attacked twice but no casualties resulted.

BUILD YOUR OWN SECURITY

IN these days when Congress is spending billions and lifting the legal national debt limit to $65,000,000,000 with true New Deal nonchalance, one runs the risk of being charged with inveterate mental antiquity in mentioning such horse and buggy words as thrift and economy.

The old days seems to have departed forever, days when the youth of the land were urged to practice thrift and self-restraint in order to build up security and competence for their later years. Now, the maxim seems to be: spend it while you have it because Uncle Sam will take care of you when you are old.

Yet it is a fact that Uncle Sam cannot adequately take care of us when we are old if we throw the rules of past economy into the discard and depend on social insurance and old age pension to turn the trick when we retire.

It may be argued that if a man will not save for himself, the government should take something from his wages and something from the national purse to build social security for him. Yet the fact is that this will in itself not give the comfort and well being that we all should look forward to.

Roger Babson, in his column the other day declared: "Social security can never be obtained by paying back to the government a certain percentage of your own earnings. Wage workers of Germany, France and even England are learning this today. Yet, it is a far better thing to provide one's own security."

More sensible words than this, on the subject of social security were never uttered. Old age insurance is in itself a dole which may keep the wolf from the door, but it is little else. The prudent and thrifty man and woman will try to do something for themselves, and will not depend entirely on the state. As Mr. Babson suggests, the first thing to do about it is to build or purchase and own one's home.

Nothing keeps one in the path toward sound democratic principles, and gives him a greater sense of security and well being than owning his own home, free of debt. Governments may change and the value of state pensions may fluctuate, but a home is a home, a haven of refuge and security. Of course even a home might be taken from one, in case of a violent communist revolution but this is extremely improbable, well nigh impossible in a nation of home owners.

The sensible young men and women will not depend on the government for social security. They will set out to build a sensible sort of security for themselves.

RED MAN'S LAMENT

A long time ago the Spanish introduced the horse to the Navaho Indian, who soon displayed a pride in his equine ownership that has become a tradition.

A Salt Lake City dispatch pictures the bewilderment of four Indians on being arraigned for owning too many horses. They related that they must have horses, for without them squaws wouldn't marry them, medicine men wouldn't serve them and they couldn't indulge their favorite sport of horse racing. Specifically, they were charged with overgrazing the Navaho Reservation range.

The incident cloaks an interesting, if pathetic, story of the economic status of this, the largest of the American Indian tribes remaining and the one least affected by the white man's habits and customs. For many years before the Civil War they were a bothersome group for the United States government, but with the establishment of their separate reservation, and given horses and sheep, they settled down and began to prosper. The fact is, they prospered too well, in the sense that they and their flocks overmultiplied.

In the beginning the reservation was broad enough to permit the Navahos to continue their nomadic way of living. A luxuriant growth covered the grazing lands and numerous streams and lakes made watering of the flocks easy. When the sheep and horses had consumed the grass in one spot, all a family did was to move to another. But as humans and animals increased, this moving about became more and more restricted.

For more than a decade the government has tried to do something about the matter, one remedial measure being to force reduction of the number of horses. With the horse his favorite animal, the Navaho naturally has not taken kindly to the plan, although extreme poverty stalks the tribe. Neither has he been responsive to other steps to try to improve his condition.

This may be accounted for in part by some mistakes of government in dealing with him, but, primarily, it is that he doesn't understand. One of the four arraigned in Salt Lake City said in court: "Our fathers used the land as they wanted. They had what they wanted. Then the white man came and made us reduce and reduce. I can't understand it."

This bespeaks the general attitude. How the Navaho can be made to understand is the question, but an answer must be found unless his state is to become even more desperate than it is. He may be stupid, stubborn, but the white man, with his superior culture and advantages, scoff at the Red Man on that score?

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph.D.

PARENTS AND TEACHERS IN ACCORD

Often in this column, and in addresses before teachers, I urge them to be considerate of parents and children. Recently an elementary supervisor said to me: "I wish you would remind parents as you visit them and write to them, to be considerate also of teachers." Then she cited examples of harmful attitudes by parents toward teachers and indiscreet remarks by parents to certain very conscientious and sensitive teachers.

What impressed me most in the supervisor's observation was her statement that such inconsiderate attitudes and remarks from parents most often come from those of the higher economic and educational brackets. "Parents of the less educated and less privileged," she said, "usually have a very fine attitude toward teachers. Hardest to satisfy, as a rule," she added, "are ex-teachers who are parents."

This latter phenomenon I have mentioned in this column. Often, indeed I have said or written to the ex-teacher mother to remind her that she is likely to be over-critical of the teacher, and that the teacher, knowing her to be such, is on this very account over-sensitive to her criticism.

Understanding Necessary

What we all want to do is to acquire understanding and appreciation one of the other—teacher of parent, parent of teacher, teacher and parent of children and children of parents. Of the children we do not expect too much, since they lack breadth of experience to draw upon. Yet, more than we realize, we parents can help the child, especially of teen-age, to put himself in the teacher's place.

Much of my life I have been both parent and teacher. I have tried hard to look through the eyes of both. Also to see from the viewpoint of the child. I suppose the best thing is never to look too long through the same eyes but always to keep shifting back and forth.

Different Backgrounds

This applies not only to these relationships, but in wider human relationships as well. We would be so much happier, and make others so much happier, and others would like us so much more and co-operate so much better if we were to achieve more in these directions.

In regard to teachers, we parents need to remind ourselves that the teacher has many children, every one different from the other one, with different home backgrounds and different backgrounds of emotions and experiences. As teachers we need to keep in mind that parents do not always know what we are driving at and that they have experiences and emotions we cannot entirely appreciate. Nor can we as parents and teachers wholly appreciate the child's point of view. Nevertheless we can all grow a little wiser and more discerning in these directions if we try hard enough.

LADDIE

Laddie was just a dog, yet when he died recently thousands of Americans were genuinely touched with grief. When fame overtook him recently people wanted to know what kind of a dog he was, so they called him an Airedale, and perhaps indeed he was an Airedale. But a pedigree, real or fancied, didn't account for Laddie's pull on American hearts.

Laddie represented those homely qualities of loyalty, affection and faithfulness, which seem so scarce in these trying days. For 10 years, like millions of other country dogs, he had roamed the broad acres around a little town, a happy anonymity with his master, Everett Scott. Then, when he had grown old and the spring had gone from his legs, his eye was dim and he loved to lie by the fire where, with closed eyes, he could feel the presence of his

What's What At A Glance

Suggest Uncle Sam Outline Peace Plan
Belligerents Would Have To Notice It
Only Difficulty Nobody Trusts Hitler

By CHARLES F. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Some of congress would be negotiated peace-makers are asking. "Why doesn't Uncle Sam outline to the Old World's belligerents a set of terms that he thinks they might agree on?"

It's a rather different suggestion from the idea of inviting Britain and the Axis to state their own respective sets of conditions. For one thing, they might not do it even if so requested. And if they did comply, opponents of the plan argue, their propositions would prove to be so far apart that it simply would have been a waste of time to get 'em on record.

If President Roosevelt or State Secretary Hull drafted a plan though, and broadcast it to all and sundry, the opposing scrappers couldn't very well avoid noticing it. Quite likely it wouldn't be altogether acceptable to either side, but they'd have to tell how much of it they were prepared to swallow, and what changes would have to be made, to make it go down. It would get 'em talking anyway, and perhaps that would lead to a pacific conclusion. That's the would be peace-makers' reasoning.

There's one flaw in it—

That Signature

Suppose Uncle Sam should evolve a peace program, and suppose Britain and Herr Hitler (Signor Mussolini wouldn't count), after making a lot of alterations in it, did arrive at a mutually acceptable compromise. And suppose Adolf subscribed to it. Why, nobody'd consider his signature worth the paper it was written on! So what would be the use?

My own surmise is that the Fuehrer would acquiesce in not impossible terms—if he could be trusted, under oath, to stick to 'em any time at all.

Remember the comparatively early days of the last war?

Well, shortly after January 1, 1916, I crossed Germany on my way from Denmark to Holland, making several short stopovers in transit. I talked with quite an aggregation of English-speaking Teutons during these stops. They weren't as important as the kaiser, but several of 'em were of a good bit of consequence, including the mayor of Hamburg, an army marshal, briefly on leave from the front, and various others in the same class.

One and all, these birds were for a peace dicker with the Allies, if only the Allies would accept the status quo.

And, from their standpoint, they'd have been cuckoo if they hadn't been. If the rumors had stopped at that stage of the game, Germany'd have won it. Naturally these Father-landers didn't want it to go on, with oodles more of sacrifices for 'em to make and at the risk of a bad reversal and defeat in the long run—just as actually happened.

The Allies, however, unaccommodatingly wouldn't recognize that they were licked and quit.

Ditto 1916 today. If Herr Hitler isn't willing to call the fight off (temporarily) on the present face of the returns, he isn't as bright as most folk give him credit for being.

Nice For Hitler

For him to do so would be disagreeable, for Signor Mussolini, skinned out of Italy's African empire, trampled by Greece, loser of at least the southern end of Albania and due to be deposed at home. But it would be alright for Adolf. He'd have Scandinavia, the bulk of the Balkans, the Low Countries and about half of France. And, after resting a while, presumably, he'd repudiate his peace bargain and clean up the loose ends—like Italy, the rest of France, the rest of the Balkans, French and Italian Africa, maybe he'd begin to chew on Russia and heaven knows what else.

Wouldn't he be a sucker not to make peace right now, with such ends in view? If the non-Nazi world will fall for it?

I'm quoting the anti-negotiated peace-makers.

The net result of the discussion between the negotiators and the anti-negotiators is this:

Adolf very likely would make peace, but that would sound fair-to-middling, but I Britain rates his promises' value at a mile less than zero. And John Bull's essential peace condition is that Adolf is to commit suicide.

On such a basis it's difficult to reach a compromise.

These late news bulletins swing the spotlight of war down across the sun-baked plains of Thrace, across the Dardanelles, fearful ground of human striving, romance, violence and critical turns in the destiny of nations, of thrones, dominions and powers.

The graves of 36,000 British soldiers lie along this wild, ruffled blue channel from the Aegean to the Black Seas, through which Jason sailed in quest of the Golden Fleece. Even with Turkish resistance, and it would appear that Turkey is now immobilized, a motorized sweep across Thrace would take the Dardanelles, in the opinion of military experts who have studied the tactical problems involved.

In the first World War, the British sought passage through the slender channel to join their allies, Russia and Rumania. That was the worst disaster of Winston Churchill's career, and it probably won't be repeated. Without land forces, the British and French fleet tried to drive through the straits, only one mile wide at the narrowest point.

Mines and land-fire from Turkish forts sank four large ships and brought a swift and disastrous ending to the naval effort. The bulldog Churchill held on, with land armies lured into Turkish death traps, and with hidden guns blazing from the hills. This brilliant effort lasted only six weeks and its failure added perhaps two years to the war. With Russia also immobilized, the Dardanelles are now involved in vastly different issues and alignments of power, all inseparably bound to the question of Hitler's ultimate victory or defeat. Turkey, making a wrong guess in the World War line-up, was roughly treated in the peace settlement.

When Helle fell from her golden-fleeced ram and was drowned, it became the Hellespont. There, too, Leander yielded his life, swimming the turbulent waters to meet his beloved Hero. And they came the poet Byron, to swim the Hellespont, to honor the name of Leander.

On the Asiatic side lie the ruins of Troy, where Hector battled with Ulysses and Achilles. Xerxes, Alexander the Great, Turkish sultans and Byzantine kings will be looking on if Hitler's march is challenged there—they know it well. It was here that the Turks first drove into

Co-Eds' Wedding Chances Are Better Now Than In Days Of Their Mothers

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, Feb. 25.—Woman college graduates have a better chance of getting married today than when their mothers or grandmothers attended college, according to surveys conducted at Oberlin College and Flora Stone Mather College of Western Reserve University.

The Oberlin survey, supervised by Professor Louis D. Hartson, head of the psychology department, showed that girls in the class of 1940 and 1941 have a 75 per cent chance of marriage at some time during their lives.

Professor Mary Schaeffer of the sociology department of Mather, declared:

"I would say the chief factor in earlier marriages for girl graduates is her willingness to go on working after marriage. It is noticeable in the choice of work made by the pre-graduates.

Fewer Choose Teaching
"Since there is a prejudice against married women holding teaching jobs, for instance, fewer girls choose teaching. On the other hand, a girl who has a position as a teacher might postpone marriage a few years so as not to have to give up the job."

Statistically, both surveys were very similar. At Mather, checkups showed that from 1916 to 1925 about two-thirds of the graduates married within each five-year period. From 1926 to 1930 the marriages dropped to 59 per cent and in the next years only 25 per cent were married.

The increases started after that and indications show Mather girls are marrying at a 50 per cent clip. Professor Hartson's survey showed fewer Oberlin co-eds marrying Oberlin men.

master and be happy — Laddie's world crashed about him.

Uncle Sam needed Everett Scott, and Laddie was left alone in his old age to lie by a fire that, in the absence of his master, had lost its warmth. Laddie pined away, just as old folks do when blind fate strikes them. Someone wrote a piece about Laddie and, overnight, the great warm heart of America swept him to dizzy fame—a fame he never understood. A great shining $200,000 airplane whisked the old fellow across the skies nestled in a bit of his master's clothing to stir his fading memories. Thousands waited to see and ask about him at the airports. His master's voice was brought to him by radio. Other, younger dogs—one a great St. Bernard—gave their blood in transfusion to keep the spark of life alight. His master's regiment voted him their mascot. An army veterinary surgeon issued a bulletin on his condition.

Finally, he reached Camp Ord, 2,000 miles from his Kansas plains, snuggled once more in Everett Scott's arms—and passed on to a dog's heaven, for life held no further happiness for Laddie. Some will sneer and call this sentimentality. But Laddie in his old tired body, personified the constancy and honest faithfulness that seems so rare, these days, among humans, and therefore all the more appreciated even if Laddie was just a dog.

Ballot Measure Back In Committee

To Have Hearing On Bill Barring
Communists From Place
On State Ballots

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 25.—A measure aimed at barring the Communist party from the ballot in Pennsylvania was back in committee today after one of the most bitter debates of the present session.

The so-called "non-partisan bill," co-sponsored by Sen. John M. Walker, Allegheny Republican, and Sen. Anthony J. Cavalcante, Fayette Democrat, shuttled to send the bill back to committee on third reading to allow public hearings. Earlier, the Communist party circulated a petition among the senators requesting a hearing.

The hour-long debate culminated in some intricate parliamentary strategy with four senators voting against granting the Communists permission to appear for public hearing.

The argument was touched off when Cavalcante made a motion for the bill be sent to committee with the understanding that after the hearing the measure would be reported from committee.

Walker protested that adoption of the motion "would tie the common sense hands" and not permit a negative decision to report the bill. Sen. Robert M. Miller, Luzerne Republican, and chairman of the legislative committee of the Pennsylvania American Legion, voted against recommending the bill for public hearing on the grounds that the Communists were only seeking publicity.

(International News Service)

KREMMLING, Colo., Feb. 25.—A boulder which had fallen on the right of way was blamed today for derailing of a Denver and Rio Grande fast freight train in Core Canon last yesterday, resulting in the death of one man and injury to another.

R. W. T. Willingham, 55, of Denver, engineer of the train, was crushed to death, and C. C. Hamilton, 45, the fireman, also of Denver, suffered an arm injury when the engine, tender, and two cars plunged 100 feet over an embankment into the Colorado river. All other crewmen escaped unhurt.

Big Parade At Bessemer

Second Annual Mardi Gras
Celebration Occurs On Monday Night

DANCE TONIGHT
CLOSES PROGRAM

Clear, crisp weather last night lured merry-makers by the hundreds to Bessemer's second annual mid-winter Mardi Gras celebration. The community affair was a top-notch success.

The Carroll club sponsored the town carnival with the full co-operation of all of Bessemer's social, fraternal and civic groups.

All the elements that go to make a successful parade were in evidence, including the Bessemer high school band, spectators by the scores, a real mardi gras spirit, costumes of every type and description, and floats ranging from a replica of the Statue of Liberty, to an overgrown baby carriage, a burlesque king and queen hauled about in their handsome royal chariot by willing slaves and even an old-fashioned hay wagon.

A dance tonight will bring festivities to a close.

Europe and established the Ottoman Empire, reaching from the Persian Gulf to the Danube.

In the last century, the struggle between Russia and Britain for control was deduced in innumerable treaties, agreements and conventions, none conclusive, none final. The Dardanelles was and is the historic joker wild in European and Asiatic power politics. We would lay a small wager that the little bald, deaf, ingratiating "President Ismet Inonu of Turkey is up to something interesting and possibly surprising in all this dicker in the dark of the moon over the status of Turkey and the Dardanelles.

At the Lausanne Conference, this shy, apologetic little man ran rings around the British and Italian diplomats and won for Turkey virtually everything it demanded. It was in 1920 that he escaped from Constantinople, disguised as a blind beggar, joined Mustafa Kemal in Angara and helped him give the grand bounce to the Greeks and other post-war intruders. He was mysteriously benched during the last year of Mustafa Kemal's rule, but succeeded to the presidency with the death of the latter in 1938.

He is an eager, hard-working, all-night poker addict. In the early days of his political adventuring, he frequently was used by Mustafa Kemal in close-in deals in which the hand moved faster than the eye. He lives in a beautiful villa, with a wife and three sons, but rarely mingles in society, and gives only one big party a year. That is when he stages a lawn fete for 10,000 poor children and personally gives each of them a bag of candy.

His suavity and courtesy is disarming. Foreign correspondents tell me that when they talked to him he seemed to be speaking ingeniously, with no reserve. They always thought they had a big story, but when they started to write it, there was just nothing there—no commitments, no news.

Newspaper men know his type well. It is just barely possible that little Ismet Inonu is still keeping politically and intellectually liquid in the gathering tensions of the Balkans and the Near East, and that Turkey no longer the "sick man of Europe" will have something to say in the final accounting.

Two reasons were advanced for this increased number, one because of the war abroad people are traveling in the United States, and the other reason was because of the severe and prolonged winter season.

Semi-Finals In Contest Will Have Been Completed By March 3

Semi-finals are now in progress in the Salvation Army sponsored Boy Scout oratorical contest. The contest is a county-wide affair with Scouts in all of the four Scout Districts taking part.

According to Captain Carl Anderson, officer-in-charge of the Salvation Army Corps, all semi-finals must be completed by March 3. The semi-finals are being held to select two of the best speakers from each district.

On Monday, March 10, the final contest will be held in Epworth church, and the county winners will be selected at this time.

Six Buildings Now Under Roof

Construction Work At Resident Center Goes Steadily On

With moderation of the weather, after a week's severe cold, progress will go on apace with the erection of the buildings at the Boys' Resident Center, at Cunningham Park. Six buildings are now under roof, four barracks, staff and recreation buildings. The flooring of the fifth barracks is being laid, and the posts of the sixth and final barracks, are now in position.

The foundation posts for the mess hall, with its large dining room, will be put in today, as the post holes, with concrete base therein, are ready. This building will set on 134 cressote treated 6 by 6 inch posts. The dining room is 170 feet by 24 feet, with 60 by 24 feet wing. It will also have a vegetable cellar, 20 by 10 feet long, and 7 feet 8 inches deep.

Concrete foundation work on the trusson prefabricated steel building will commence today.

A shipment of fire extinguishers has arrived on the project, for placement in all the completed buildings. These are of the latest type chemical tanks.

Fire drills for the boys connected with the Center will soon commence, under the supervision of Joe Craig, labor foreman.

A complete army kitchen has been requisitioned, and is expected to arrive in a week or ten days. There will be an efficient cook in charge of the kitchen, which will furnish one hot meal a day, to those employed on the project.

There were 80 boys at work, 18 carpenters, 3 labor foremen, a time-keeper, and 1 assistant, a requisition clerk in charge of material and supplies, and assistant, 3 night watchmen, 2 truck drivers, besides the engineer, and construction superintendent.

OYSTER DROWNS DUCK.

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Md.—Harold W. Webb, was boating on Johnson's Bay near here when he saw a wild duck do a "Stuka dive" and plunge four feet beneath the water in search of food. The duck's bill went right into the open mouth of an oyster and the latter promptly closed its shells, trapping the bird. The buoyancy of the duck's body brought it to the top of the water, but the weight of the oyster held the duck's head under the surface until it drowned. Webb retrieved both the duck and the oyster.

HONEST HOUSEWIVES.

(International News Service)
SAC CITY, Ia.—Vern Olson, Sac City grocer, took about $850 in bills owed him by customers to his home to check them over. There the bills accidentally were tossed into a furnace. Luckily for Olson, however, most of his debtors had kept their duplicate slips. Others offered to accept Olson's estimate of their account.

Camp Shelby Adds 10,500 Acres To Its Present Area

(International News Service)

CAMP SHELBY, Miss.—All privately owned land in the vast DeSoto National Forest reserve has been purchased by government agents and will be added to Camp Shelby, increasing its area by 10,500 acres.

The land sales affected 165 families. They were given 30 days to move and the government suggested other permanent locations for them within a 25-mile radius.

M. J. Epley, chief purchasing agent, traveling 7,000 miles in two months through the three-county area near Camp Shelby, in buying up the 165 options.

The increase in acreage will make the camp, expected by local army officials eventually to become the nation's largest, nearly 90,000 acres in area. As 90,000 troops are ultimately expected to be quartered there, this will provide nearly an acre per soldier.

Lenten Program For St. Andrew's Church

Rev. Charles J. Burton, Pastor, Announces Schedule Of Services

St. Andrew's Episcopal church, Rev. Charles J. Burton pastor, announces the following relative to the observance of Lent:

The Lenten season, which begins on Ash Wednesday, is an ancient and traditional penitential season of the church year which is observed by all liturgical churches, and also, now, by many other Christian bodies, in commemoration of Christ's fasting and temptations in the wilderness for 40 days in preparation for his crucifixion for the redemption of mankind. The Episcopal church expects all its members to abstain from all social affairs, movies, parties and amusements during the solemn season of Lent, and to apply themselves to acts of worship, prayer, almsgiving, and self-denial, and attendance upon the services in God's house both Sundays and week days.

The following schedule will be observed at St. Andrew's: The Sunday services will consist of choral holy communion at eight a. m.; church school at 10 a. m.; evening prayer and sermon at 7:30 p. m., with a special series of sermons on "Forward in Service" beginning on March 2 in the following order—In

Retired Tree Surgeon Takes Up Weaving As A Pastime

(International News Service)
INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 25.—Probably because he was so accustomed to knitting together broken limbs of trees, a retired Indianapolis tree surgeon turned to weaving for pastime when forced to quit work because of injuries.

In 1937, Ben Morris, now 69, became incapacitated through injuries suffered first when struck by a falling limb, and later when a tumble out of a tree hurt his spine.

While other persons generally turn to hobbies such as carving, or painting in such cases, Morris tried weaving after his retirement. He has been at it ever since.

As products of a small loom, approximately three and one-half inches square, the former tree surgeon already has made two baby blankets, three afghans, a large bed blanket and now is working on another large cover.

Blanket Takes 40 Days

An average blanket requires approximately 40 days and 38 skeins of yarn. About 480 squares are woven, then joined into strips which are later sewed together. The finished product weighs approximately 66 ounces and, according to Morris, is "plenty warm."

One of the baby blankets already has been delivered to the infant son of a former neighbor. The explanation, "From a man to a man," accompanied the blue cover in order to offset the nurses' surprise that a blanket should be made by masculine hands.

According to Morris, the other baby blanket is pink and he already knows who will be the recipient—provided it's a girl. If not someone will have to add something blue in a hurry.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

LENGTH OF DURATION IS WORST FEATURE OF CHICKEN POX

Chicken pox is one of the milder of the diseases of childhood since it is a comparatively mild infection and doesn't ordinarily leave in its wake the complications that so often follow measles or scarlet fever.

Sometimes a youngster will go a week or so after he contracts the disease before he begins to complain of feeling uncomfortable. To the lay person, there doesn't seem to be any reason for his complaints, for the disease comes without a head cold or other symptom.

A few days after the child complains of not feeling well, he will usually develop a rash. This begins with a few pink spots on the chest and abdomen. Later these spots lose their pink color and in the center of each appears a tiny drop of fluid.

At this stage of the disease a child often gets these spots on his face and forehead, at which time he looks as though there were drops of perspiration standing out on his head. When these drops of water rupture, they leave areas of skin that stay red for about ten days. During this period the child is infectious and should be kept away from others.

Sometimes the child will show a degree or so of temperature before the rash appears but once the spots appear the fever abates. Although the rash begins on the chest and

Divorce hearings will take place on Friday, and on Saturday desertion and non-support cases will be heard, with sentence court, if there are any to come up for sentence at this time.

County treasurer Earl R. Wimer has noticed a slight increase in the number of applications for dog licenses, following the announcement of Dog Law Investigator Howard E. McClure, that prosecutions will start in the case of those who have not secured licenses for their dogs. The number already licensed is almost 2,000 less than it was last year, McClure states.

Plans for the 1935 tax sale, which will take place on April 30, are going forward, County Treasurer Earl R. Wimer stated today. Folks who have the ability to pay their taxes for the year 1935 will save themselves a lot of additional cost by settling this week.

Notices will be mailed out to delinquents next week, Wimer states, and as was the experience last year, it is expected that a lot of people will be surprised to learn that delinquent taxes have been filed against their property. A great many cases of errors and discrepancies were cleared up in last year's tax sale, and the same is expected to result this year. In a lot of cases, people were able to bring in a receipt showing their taxes had been paid for the year 1934, but the payment had never been credited on the books of the treasurer. It is expected that there will still be some similar instances this year.

Commission Reports On Study Of State Taxes

Many Changes Are Suggested

Inequitable Distribution Of Taxes Is Criticized In Report To Legislature

RECOMMENDATIONS ARE SUBMITTED

By EVERETT GERRY
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Feb. 25.—Criticism of the "inequitable distribution of taxes" by the joint state government commission in its two-year report to the legislature today urged relief for industry and other groups from burdensome taxation.

The commission found that individuals and families are required to contribute a disproportionate share of their income, ranging from 6.1 per cent to 21 per cent, of salaries, to state, local and federal taxes.

Unbalanced Taxes
"Staggering new and unbalanced business taxes have handicapped industry and imposed unfair burdens decidedly heavier than tax levies on individuals," the report stated.

The report contained no recommendations for additional taxes but called on the legislature to set up an independent tax appeal body to rid the state's tax structure of "inequalities and official red tape."

The proposed tax body would consist of three members to be appointed by the governor and would function as an arbitration board in all refund cases. It would also establish an effective check on allegedly lax methods of wiping tax appeal and refund cases from the calendar, the report added.

Recommendations
The commission recommended to the General Assembly:

1. That refunds in tax appeal cases should be paid in cash or in the form of a credit to be applied against future taxes and that such credits may be assigned to other Pennsylvania taxpayers.

2. Interest at the rate of two per cent. should be paid on all refunds from date of overpayment to date of refund.

3. An appeal should be allowed from the decision of the board of finance and revenue, or the proposed independent tax appeal body in all refund cases.

4. The department of revenue should be required to dispose of a petition for resettlement within six months from the date of filing the petition, unless the petitioner agrees to file a waiver or causes delay by his own action.

In addition, the commission recommended further study of assessment procedures, employees by local assessors, and the effect of state and local taxes on families in different income groups and individuals in various occupations.

Catholic Churches Will Observe Lent

On Wednesday, February 26, Ash Wednesday, the holy season of Lent, one of the oldest and most important seasons of the liturgical year, begins in the Roman Catholic churches of this city.

With the four Sundays of Lent and Passion and Palm Sunday deduced, there are only 36 penitential days in the six complete weeks of Lent, so that, in order to obtain the full number of 40 days, the four days preceding the first Sunday of Lent are added, thereby making the Lenten season begin on a Wednesday.

Lent divides itself into two parts. The first commences on Ash Wednesday and ends on Passion Sunday. The second and more solemn part extends from Passion Sunday until noon of Holy Saturday, the end of Lent. These two weeks termed, "the great fortnight," are called Passion time. The many changes in the liturgy in Lent serve to show the mind of the church that the spirit of penance has become more intense in this season. The solemnization of marriage is forbidden. The liturgical color is purple, the sign of penitence. Altars remain bare of flowers and decorations. Except for the fourth Sunday in Lent and before the Gloria of the mass on Holy Thursday and after the Gloria on Holy Saturday, the organ is silent, nor is any musical accompaniment allowed, unless necessary to support the singing. Most pronounced, however, are the changes in the celebration of the Lenten mass. Purple vestments are used. The Gloria and the Alleluia are suppressed. Special prefaces are said, one for the first part of Lent, another for Passion time. A prayer is added after the post-communion oration, called the "Prayer Over the People," beginning with this call to humility: "Bow down your heads before God."

That Lent should be a 40-day fast seems to have been influenced by the Biblical examples of Moses, Elias and most particularly, Our Lord. Moses fasted for 40 days on Mt. Sinai in the desert; Elias, on Mt. Horeb, and Our Lord, prepared for His public ministry by fasting 40 days in the desert.

The English word, Lent, coming from the Teutonic word for spring, actually carries no indication in itself of a season of 40 days, as do the Latin term and its derivatives in other languages. Though the spirit of Lent has remained always one of penance through prayer and fasting, the severity of the observance of the Lenten fast has suffered its changes. Of old, some Christians passed the entire day without food; some went even farther and lived on only one or two meals a week. But the ordinary fast was to take only one meal a day, with meat and wine forbidden in the early centuries. Gradually, however, customs introduced themselves into the observance of the Lenten fast, and, as time went on, these practices joined with the successive indulgences of the Holy See, lessened the severity of Lenten penance, such as eating meat once a day throughout the year, except on Fridays, Christmas eve, Ash Wednesday and before noon on Holy Saturday.

Regardless of how well one is capable to observe the externals of the Lenten penance, the spirit of Lent still persists to remind one of the necessity of penance for sin to make effective in the sinner the work of the redemption.

The Catholic churches of this city start the observance of the Lenten season on Wednesday, and throughout the season, special services and speakers, are being arranged for the various churches.

How to Make a Splendid Cough Remedy at Home

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of sugar syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all.

Then get from your druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of truly wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It makes a real saving for you, because it gives you about four times as much for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it.

This is actually a surprisingly effective, quick-acting cough remedy. Promptly soothes the throat, loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You've never seen anything better for prompt and pleasing results.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaranaol, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

HOW YOU CAN GET A $100 LOAN REPAYED IN 12 INSTALLMENTS AT A COST OF 5¢ A DAY

You can get $100 to pay old debts or other expenses if you can repay $9.75 a month for 12 months—No endorsers or guarantors needed—A simple, private way to borrow.

HAVE unusual expenses caught you short of ready cash? Do you need money to pay old bills? If you have a steady job, you can readily borrow $20 to $300—and repay in small monthly installments.

Suppose that you need $100. Find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across picking out the monthly payment you wish to make. 12 monthly installments of $9.75 each, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full. The cost, in this case, averages less than 5¢ a day.

You may prefer smaller payments. Only $6.97 a month for 18 months will also repay a $100 loan. The amount you borrow and the time you take to repay it determines the cost. You can borrow $25 for two months, for instance, for only 94¢.

After the meeting, colored motion pictures taken during a southern motor trip last summer were shown by Harold Parker and proved most interesting.

A delicious oyster supper was served as the final feature by Gene Bleakney, Lou Young and "Red" Rademacher. Monday, March 10, is the date of the next meeting.

Camp Kon-O-Kwee Again Secured By Girl Scout Council

Week Of June 12th Announced For Annual Camping Period For Girls

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 25.—At the meeting of the Girl Scout Council in the city building last night, plans were completed for the Girl Scout camp to be held at Camp Kon-O-Kwee the week of June 12 to 19.

The members of the council consider themselves very fortunate in being able to secure this camp again as it is rated one of the finest if not the best in this section. Plans are being made to make this week of camping a week of fine outdoor recreation plus splendid training for the girls. It is hoped that every Girl Scout in Ellwood City will be there helping to make camp a bigger success than ever before. Due to increased costs this year the fee will be five dollars per girl for the week.

New Castle To Play At Ellwood Tonight

Will Be Final Game For Matlocks, Seetch, Matrangol Of Local Team

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 25.—Three Ellwood high school lads, Matlocks, Seetch and Matrangol, will make their final bow in the high school sports history tonight when the Lincoln basketball team will end the 1940-41 season by playing New Castle high school at the local court.

In addition to being leading basketball players, they were also outstanding football players for the past two seasons.

While no titles will be won or lost or little change made in the section standing by tonight's game, it will be highly interesting and will attract a large crowd because of the long-time rivalry between the two schools.

New Castle shares third place along with New Brighton and Beaver Falls and the Blue and White are the lone occupants of the cellar position. Ellwood has shown strong improvement offensively in the past several games and has piled up many points against the teams, which have defeated them. It took the full force of Aliquippa, the section leaders in the last period to defeat the Newton crew last Friday night.

The sting of an unsuccessful season would be greatly lessened if the locals could defeat the county-seaters, local fans agree. While there have been many close scores, Ellwood hasn't had a victory over New Castle since 1928, thirteen years ago, when one of Peck Lee's outstanding teams topped the Red Hurricane 16 to 12.

Newton will use the same lineup that performed so well last week against Aliquippa.

The Reserves of the two schools will play at 7 o'clock. A change has been made in the starting lineup for the Reserves and includes: October and Daubenspeck, forward; Hough, center; and Greco and Dan, guards. Ed Moran, of Rochester, will officiate at the preliminary game and Preston Ditty and John Graham, of the West Penn officials organization, will handle the main contest.

Following are the probable line-ups: New Castle Ellwood City Lee F D'Biago Ross F Matlocks Cooper C Seetch Christopher G Matrangol Pasqua G Sekulski New Castle Reserves—Zubkowsky, Tomamello, Melichar.

MARGRETTA HALL ENTERTAINS CLUB

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 25.—Miss Margretta Hall entertained members of the C. I. A. club in her home on Todd avenue Monday evening. Democrats Seek Cabinet Probe At Harrisburg

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Feb. 25.—Democratic legislators in the house pressed today for legislative investigations of two of Gov. Arthur H. James' cabinet officials.

The cabinet members under fire are Secretary of Highways I. Lamont Hughes and Secretary of Labor and Industry Lewis G. Hines.

Rep. Albert L. O'Connor, of Cambria, introduced a resolution requesting a joint legislative probe into the use of blast furnace slag by the department of highways for road construction, while Reps. Reuben E. Cohen and James R. Rooney, both of Philadelphia, sought a house investigation of Hines' alleged failure to enforce the minimum wage law for women and children.

Kills Estranged Wife, Surrenders

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Feb. 25.—Jobless Stanley Grabowski, 27, of nearby Barking, shot and killed his estranged wife last night as a climax to a year of turbulent domestic strife, New Kensington police reported today.

Grabowski walked into the kitchen of his father-in-law's home on Eighth street, where his wife had been staying with her parents, snatched their three-month-old daughter from his wife's arms, and shot her in the stomach, police said. Then as she fled from the house, he fired three more shots, one of which pierced her heart and killed her, according to police. The baby was not harmed.

Patrolman Walter Bartlick took Mrs. Grabowski, 19, to Citizens General hospital where she was pronounced dead. A few minutes later, Grabowski himself walked in and Bartlick said:

"He was very cool, when I was putting the handcuffs on him, he said: 'You don't have to put those on. I'll go with you.' He admitted the shooting."

Fire Destroys Small Cottage

New Castle Firemen Save Gas Station And Nearby Home Today

New Castle firemen played an important part in saving Cartwright's Service Station and a nearby home, shortly before noon today, when a small cottage, alongside of the station, burned down, about a half mile outside of the city limits, along Harlansburg road.

The small cottage, which was occupied by a man and which was used as a store room for various equipment, is a complete loss, firemen reported.

Cause of the fire was not known. Insects do not have lungs, and do not breathe through their mouths. Their air is drawn in through minute holes or spiracles in the body segments, and oxygen is carried to all parts of the body through an intricate system of branching tubes, or trachea.

Canada Plays Important Role In War Effort

Most Vital Contribution Is Training Of Airmen For Royal Air ForceCANADIAN NAVY
GUARDS SEALANES(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Canada is playing a vital and surprisingly varied role in the war effort of the British Commonwealth, a survey by the British Press Service has revealed.

Besides being a great storehouse for food and raw materials, Canada can boast a growing industry for the machines of war and, as a full fledged nation, can put in the field a full roster of armed forces. The Canadians have their own air force, their own navy and an army which is now being largely trained and equipped within their own borders. Even more important, all three services are in a fair way to being served by a domestic armaments industry which makes them in many respects independent of Great Britain.

The Empire training program is probably Canada's most significant contribution to the Commonwealth war organization. This program, whereby flyers are being trained for the growing air armadas, is also shared with Australia and New Zealand, but the bulk, both of cost and of organization, is borne by Canada. According to a high Canadian official, Canada is contributing $360,000,000 of a total cost of $600,000,000. Thirty-six thousand pilots, observers, gunners, ground crews, are now training under the plan in Canada. About 7 per cent of the men who fly—the pilots, observers and gunners—are U. S. citizens and the rest Canadians, French Canadians, Scots, Irish, British, Australians.

Trained Air Personnel
According to the same source, by the end of this year Canada will be sending airmen to Britain "by tens of thousands." Fifty flying schools are now in operation and the program will finally have 83. The fall of France resulted in a speeding up of the schedule so that all airfields, hangers and school buildings scheduled for 1941 were to have been completed by the end of 1940. The plan calls for 67 training schools and 16 supplementary schools with 88 airfields of which 69 are new. The program is already turning out graduates. On December 26, the first contingent of Australian graduates who finished their training in Canada, and the third contingent of Canadians, arrived in London ready for active service.

The Royal Canadian Air Force is separate from the Empire training program although fed by it. Expanding rapidly since the outbreak of war, it consisted on January 1, 1941, of more than 40,000 men. Three squadrons of the R. C. A. F. are in Britain and in December had brought down 71 enemy planes. Besides this, however, there are over 1,000 Canadians serving in the R. A. F. which boasts one all-Canadian squadron.

Air machine-guns, anti-aircraft guns, anti-tank guns and air cannons are being made at home and Bren guns are being supplied in large numbers for both the Canadian and the British governments. Orders have been placed for 300 tanks which are expected at the rate of 30 a month. Altogether 600 mechanized units are being produced daily.

Navy Sharply Expanded

The Royal Canadian Navy has ceased to be the infant service it was before the war and is now in a position of great responsibility guarding the shipping lanes of the Atlantic and the shores of the Western Hemisphere. According to authoritative Canadian sources the Navy increased from 1,700 men and 15 ships before the war to 13,000 men and 115 ships, soon to be increased to 20,000 men and 200 ships.

Canadian shipyards are constructing 18 minesweepers and 64 anti-submarine patrol ships, ten of which are for the British Government. Two destroyers also are on order for the Canadian Navy in British shipyards. Three fast passenger ships are being converted into armed cruisers.

College Graduates Are Eagerly Sought

(International News Service)
BETHLEHEM, Pa., Feb. 25.—College graduates are being sought more eagerly this year by business and industry than ever before, it is indicated in a report by E. Robins Morgan, director of placement at Lehigh University.

The explanation of the rush for college seniors, Morgan says, lies in the business improvement. "Firms other than defense industries are getting the jump by selecting men, in many instances, before they are taken by the first-line defense companies, he said.

With some companies the claims which the selective service act has on seniors is no bar to employment, the placement director says. Many firms are willing to take a chance and offer guarantees of a furlough. Some do not even inquire about the students' draft numbers.

Starting wages generally offered are about five per cent higher than in 1940 and a tendency seems to prevail for seniors to accept positions rather than plan to do graduate work.

"This year's seniors will never again have the blue book of the American industry open before them as it is today," Morgan observed. "They may seek jobs in these fields, but never again in their lives will these firms come to them as they now are. Industry is calling men because it needs men."

Seniors are responding rather well and are trying to keep them from becoming cocky and aloof.

Germans Announce Heavy Ship Losses To Enemy Vessels

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Feb. 25.—The stupendous total of 250,000 tons of enemy shipping has been sunk during the past two days, according to latest official reports received in Berlin. The German high command announced today.

This figure included the 215,000 tons of British naval and merchant shipping which Chancellor Hitler announced yesterday at Munich had been sunk in the previous 48 hours. Of this total, he said, 190,000 tons had been sent to the bottom by submarines.

EDITOR'S NOTE: London quarters yesterday declared there was no truth whatever in Hitler's statement regarding sinkings of British ships.

New Castle And Ellwood Battle In Section Game

Ellwood City Will Be Host To New Castle For Final 1941 Section Contest

RESERVE TEAMS IN PRELIMINARY

New Castle High School basketball team ends its Section Three league season at the Ellwood City High floor this evening. At 7 o'clock the reserve teams of both schools will battle.

Ellwood City will be out for revenge this evening, for the defeat handed to them by New Castle earlier in the season. Coach Newton feels confident that his team will put up a better showing on their home court than they did at George Washington High, the score being 38 to 15.

Two In Final Game
When New Castle takes the floor tonight, two boys will be playing their final scholastic contests of their school careers. Al Christopher and Ralph Tomaleio, both guards. The departure of these two boys will leave two big gaps to fill next December.

The New Castle lineup will be made at the start probably of the boys who will be back next year: Robert E. Lee and Charles "Red" Ross at the forwards; either Zubowski or Cooper at the jumping spot; and either Cooper or Zubowski and Parou at the guards. Both Christopher and Tomaleio will see a lot of action, the former may even start the game.

The game will end the season for both New Castle and Ellwood, neither having had much luck or success in Section Three this season. New Castle, if they win tonight, will have five wins and five defeats for the sectional play, a .500 average.

Tourney Managers To Meet Tonight At City Building

Tourney Committee Will Discuss Coming Event With Managers, Final Night To Register

Tonight the city council chambers will be a beehive of excitement as more than 25 to 30 managers of various class A and B basketball teams will gather with Anthony Conn and his city-county basketball tourney committee for the final registration meeting prior to the start of the fourth annual event.

The meeting is slated to start at 7:30 o'clock. At the first meeting 22 teams were registered. It is believed that quite a few more teams will enter tonight.

Will Show Trophies
Judging from the interest being shown already in the coming event, the fourth annual tournament is going to surpass all of the previous ones. The trophies and medals have arrived and will be displayed at the meeting tonight. No doubt the managers of the various teams will be anxious to see what the tourney committee has done in the way of prizes.

The New Castle Music Council will be the sponsor of the tourney this year and are lending a hand to the committee in the staging of the gigantic event. Considerable number of tickets have already been sold, it is understood.

Mastodons of the mat having come and gone, the next entertainment by the Jefferson A. C. will be a biff and bang show in which two prominent Ohio welterweights, Sonny Horne of Niles and Ted Delarado, will appear in the feature role next Monday night. The Jefferson A. C. will give one-half of the net receipts to the Youth Development council of Lawrence county for the benefit of the recreation centers here. This will be a move for the benefit of approximately 1,000 young boys and girls. Reservations may now be secured at the Jefferson A. C. or from members of the Youth Development council, Frank Leonard of the recreation centers, or any of his assistants.

Game Protector Frank Coen today stated that he is preparing to distribute ringneck cock birds throughout Lawrence county. He will have some of them within a week or two. However, he would like to have persons who have been feeding hens to send him a post card containing their names so that the male birds can be placed at proper places for spring mating. His address is R. D. 5.

George Macraostes, the Golden Greek, used the Supplex hold to win here last night. It was the first time the writer had seen this hold.

However, Bibber McCoy, a fine fellow, offered to explain it to us and he did. Bibber is one of the most versatile of athletes and has a splendid personality. For a time it was believed his wrestling days would be over when he was attacked by trachoma. However, he was cured and is now under the management of Paul Bowers, the biggest impresario in the east.

Harry Bobo came through again last night at Pittsburgh, flattening Al Delaney of Canada in the eighth round. Bobo is a big fellow. He boxed in The Arena during his amateur days. They're trying to have Bobo reach a spot where Billy Conn may have to give him recognition. Personally we would like to see Billy Conn fight Lou Nova prior to the Louis fight but of course, Monopolistic Mike Jacobs wouldn't stand for a hazard like that.

Charles Ziehmman, legless endurance swimmer, spent 168 hours of continuous swimming in a pool at Honolulu, creating a new record. His former mark was 148 hours 25 minutes.

GERSONS NOT PLAYING
The Fannins are playing at Slippery Rock tonight and not the Gersons, it was announced by Manager Walter Perch today. There had been a mixup in the game for a couple of days, but it was learned that the Fannins have been carded.

Ambers-Jenkins To Meet Friday

Lou Ambers Will Attempt Comeback In Welterweight Class By Meeting Texan

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Staff Writer)
NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—We've seen the end of Lou Ambers as a fighter who whipped most of the good men of his poundage through a half dozen years until he finally won the lightweight championship. What we are about to witness now is the beginning of his career as a welter, and there is considerable conjecture over his ability to make the grade in the heavier division. The betting is against him.

For his first comeback start on the big time, next Friday night, he will encounter New York Commissioner Lightweights champion Lew Jenkins in an over-the-weight return match, and in the event of his winning, Ambers will demand a crack at Pittsburgh Fritz Zivic's welter crown.

If Ambers is washed up, the Jenkins bout figures to go a long way toward proving it, for, after all, there really is just about one question that he needs to answer regarding his ability at this stage of the proceedings. That is how much of his speed is gone?

Ambers lacks zip
Ambers didn't seem to have any zip last May when the Texan took his lightweight title with a three-round knockout, but Ambers was tagged so soon that you couldn't tell much about it. Moreover, making the weight nearly wrecked him, Ambers said.

It is significant that he has never fought again as a lightweight, and henceforward will go in at around 140 pounds, which is his best weight. Jenkins ended Ambers' lightweight career and may blast his hope of attaining the welterweight top, while Zivic brought to a close the career of Henry Armstrong, with a blood-spattered decision, and an even bloodier technical knockout. With that Zivic established himself as the kingpin of the welters.

Ambers, it will be seen, has cut out a large order of fisticuffing for himself with that program—Jenkins, who knocked him out, and Zivic who stopped Armstrong.

Wabash Bears To Have Fast Team

The Wabash Bears basketball team will make a determined bid for the class B championship in the coming city-county basketball tourney, it was announced today by Manager William Domenick. Ernie Adams, late of the New Castle high team, will coach the Bears.

The following will compose the Bears roster: Pete Razzano, Dave Razzano, Ralph Tomaleio, Patsy Piccirilli, Simione, Mingione, Skip Russo, Al Russo and Orlando.

The Bears so far this season are undefeated in 10 games, it was announced. Last year in the tourney the Bears advanced to the semifinals before being knocked out, by the Junior Ex-High Stars, the ultimate winners last year.

Hi-Y Team Wins From Plaingrove

The New Castle Hi-Y team topped the Plaingrove High School basketball team Monday night by a 22-18 score on the Plaingrove floor. The Hi-Y, led by Richards, Thomas and Harcar, took a 15 to 17 lead in the first half, but had to come from behind in the last quarter to overcome an 18-17 Plaingrove lead.

Princeton High At East Brook

East Brook High basketball team will play the Princeton High Tigers tonight at the East Brook High gym in the main game, and the reserve teams will play the preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced.

PEARSON LOOP

Results of games played last night:

Honola whipped Purdue, 30-10; Minnesota scored over Northwest, 33-12; Michigan sidetracked Iowa, 26-23; and Wisconsin trounced Ohio State, 33-16. M. Fee, Hawkins, Jenkins and Fair were high scorers, each with 14 points. Tex Richards officiated.

He is as trim as one of Earl White's shoes and just as sprightly, which is unusual when you stop to think that Dilks has been tramping around the avenues and highways for 20 or more years. Various sources tell us that Dilks still does plenty of running. One of the informants tells us that Lin runs 25 to 30 miles quite frequently. If you aspire to retain that Hollywood-like form, follow Dilks around and we feel sure you will achieve your desire.

Two more athletes bid farewell to the scholastic scene. When the referee toots the whistle which sends New Castle High against Ellwood City tonight at Ellwood City, Al Christopher and Ralph Tomaleio will be flaunting the "Hurricane" colors for the last time. Rated among the classiest hoopers to play scholastic ball in the past several seasons, the pair will be difficult to replace by the time the next season arrives.

The Yanks will be out to settle a score with Johnny Babich, crafty Philadelphia Athletic right hander. Mack's prize trophy set down the four time champions five out of six times in 1940. Coast reports indicate that Joe DiMaggio, Yank star, has cut down his salary demand from $40,000 to $37,000. Joe has been training for the past two weeks around San Francisco an indication that he'll be around camp soon.

Baron Boats Poffenberger must still be considered a "Pock's Bad Boy". Boats, who was tossed out of the majors for misbehaving, won 26 games with Nashville last season. Yet not one big time club seems to be interested in him. Couldn't be penance, could it?...

Bill McKeechle, Cincy boss, has 12 pitchers in camp. Frank Melton, Philly pitcher, procured from Co. 4th, ranks as the top carpenter in the big time. Melton spent the off season building his own home. He supplied all the carpentry!

With Geneva out of the way, Westminister should be able to win its other three games. Bethany, home, March 1; Slippery Rock, away, March 4; and Carnegie Tech, home, March 8.

With a record of 20 won and 1 lost for the season, the Titans should stand an excellent chance to receive a Madison Square Garden bid for the annual invitation tournament in New York City.

The Geneva-Westminister game will be a hard one for the Titans, since the Covenanters are always hard to defeat on their home floor. The Titans tossed away a large lead in their first game this year with the Black and Gold, and won with only five points to spare, 32-27. Both Fred Miller, tall Connettsville center, and tiny Frankie O'Hara, five-foot-six-inch forward, alternated replacing Ridd in the Titan lineup for the past two games. Have proved potential high-scoring. In the Youngstown game, Miller clipped off 12 points on six field goals, and against Wagnersburg, in a single quarter, little O'Hara tossed in four goals and two free counters for ten points.

Titans Prepare For Battle With Geneva

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 25.—With 16 wins and only one defeat against them, Westminister college's championship-bound cagers face another hard week, with two games scheduled, the first against Geneva's courtmen on the Covenant floor Thursday (Feb. 27) and a home contest with the Bethany Bisons Saturday (March 1).

Charles "Buz" Ridd, the Titans' best scoring threat, will be back in the Westminister lineup for the Geneva game, after being laid up for the Youngstown and Wagnersburg contests with a sprained ankle. Even without the services of Ridd, the Titans defeated the Youngstown cagers 49-48 and Wagnersburg's Jackets 36-39.

SCHOOL WILL BE OPEN ALL YEAR

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Feb. 25 — Because Jefferson borough voters turned down a $350,000 bond issue which would have provided a new school building, Jefferson district high school will be operated throughout the year.

Working on a quarterly basis, pupils will be required to attend three quarters each year and vacations will be doled out accordingly. Principal O. G. Enstrom said the school expects to have an attendance of 650 this year, whereas the school was built to accommodate 450. He added:

Every effort is going to be made to permit those pupils who have definite plans for employment to have the summer months as their vacation.

Snag Develops On Transfer Of Danish Ships

Family Of Owner Held In Occupied Denmark As Hostages

FEAR FATE IF SALES ARE MADE

By ARTHUR F. KERMANN, International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Disposal of 58 Danish vessels tied up in western hemisphere ports is being delayed because U. S. officials fear that the Danish-American family which owns them might be punished in German-dominated Denmark.

This almost fantastic story was disclosed today by authoritative diplomatic sources in Washington and confirmed by high government officials as the maritime commission admitted that negotiations for American acquisition of the vessels had hit a "snag."

Most of these ships are controlled by the Danish shipping family of Arnold Peter Moeller and his American wife, the former Christine Estelle McKinney. When Germany occupied Denmark a year ago the Moeller family, including two daughters and a son, Maersk McKinney Moeller, were placed under close guard. It was revealed.

However, as many of the ships of the Isbrandtsen-Moeller line were in American ports at the time of the occupation, they were not moved out, but were tied up in port where they have remained since.

To the Germans, according to informants, this did not look like good business, so they struck upon a plan whereby they could have proper management of the shipping line's affairs, with no fears that the vessels would be used against the Reich. Young Maersk was "given permission" to leave Denmark. He was given safe passage through Germany, German-occupied France, free to Lisbon, and thence by clipper ship to the United States and the offices of his line in New York City.

He has been there since "some time in July," conducting affairs of the business. However, before he left Denmark, he was told that should the ships be used in a way detrimental to the best interests of Germany, "Germans could not be responsible for what Danish Nazis would do to members of his family, his father, mother, sisters and other relatives."

Since arriving in New York, young Moeller has met with British and American negotiators several times. Washington officials said that on each occasion, the mental strain of possible consequences of his actions have caused him to become physically ill. He is reported to have fainted several times, breaking off the conferences.

Now, maritime officials state that the discussions have stalled again. One high official of the government expressed the personal opinion that "Maersk Moeller would be very foolish to do anything which could be construed as being detrimental to Germany." It also was said that the fate of the Moeller family has been a "very important consideration" in the discussions, and that they have been the "most delicate" ever undertaken by the maritime commission.

Meanwhile, the Danish ships lie rusting in American ports. The British have not found a way to free their vessels on Pacific trade routes for vital work in Atlantic waters. But the Moeller family is still alive "somewhere in Denmark."

County Institute Will Be In August

Superintendent Syling Will Have Outstanding Speakers At Meeting This Year

Plans for the county teachers institute for this year are already in the making, County Superintendent John C. Syling stated today. The institute this year will take place in August, prior to the opening of school, so that the school term will not be interfered with.

Among the speakers will be Dr. Charles Sutton, superintendent of the Atlanta, Ga., schools, who is considered one of the outstanding educators of the nation. Attempts had been made to secure Dr. Sutton last year, but he was unable to come at the time set for the institute last year. Several other educators of national note will be present, and the institute should be one of the best ever held.

County Schools Will Close Late

Many Things Have Occurred To Delay Closing Of Term This Year, Syling States

Lawrence county schools will be late in closing their terms this year, due to a number of unforeseen circumstances, which have cut into the terms.

In addition to the regular school holidays, there was the draft registration, county institute, and epidemics of disease which closed a number of the schools.

Many of the schools will observe the latest closing date in a number of years as a result of these unforeseen difficulties.

New Type Chick Being Developed

Experiments Being Made In Laboratory Of University Of Pittsburgh

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Feb. 25.—A new type chicken is being developed in the laboratory of the University of Pittsburgh through use of the drug colchicine.

Under the guiding hand of Dr. Edna Higbee, experiments are being carried out which thus far have developed roosters with combs and wattles twice the size of the ordinary rooster. The drug is inserted into eggs—since inserting the drug into the animals themselves has always proved fatal, Dr. Higbee, a lecturer in biology at the university, said. She added, in regard to her experiments:

"The combs and wattles of the males and the females of the first group reached twice normal size in seven months. In the second group the combs and wattles of the male are also considerably larger. Roosters of the first group started to crow at the age of seven months, while that of the second group crowded at four months."

"Colchicine has been used for centuries for gout, but recently sprang into the medical limelight when experiments on plants showed it developed giant specimens in which evolutionary changes were greatly speeded up."

Three Guardsmen Are Turned Down

Grove City Guard Company Prepares To Leave For Camp Wednesday

(Special To The News) GROVE CITY, Feb. 25.—Only three of Grove City's 114 guardsmen were listed as casualties in the final medical test given at State Armory last week, according to official reports. The three privates were discharged due to bad teeth, leaving 111 men and six officers to depart for Indiantown Gap next Wednesday evening.

Medical officers said the three casualties out of 114 examined was unusually low, and showed a fine state of health of the guardsmen in this district.

Last night, all officers and men were tendered a send-off dinner by the Commercial Club. Tonight, open house is planned at the Armory where relatives and friends may call and attend a short program featuring soldier talent. The boys entrain Wednesday at 1 p. m. traveling by sleeper coaches to Indiantown Gap, where they will arrive at 11:15 a. m. Thursday.

Three Guardsmen Are Turned Down

Grove City Guard Company Prepares To Leave For Camp Wednesday

(Special To The News) GROVE CITY, Feb. 25.—Only three of Grove City's 114 guardsmen were listed as casualties in the final medical test given at State Armory last week, according to official reports. The three privates were discharged due to bad teeth, leaving 111 men and six officers to depart for Indiantown Gap next Wednesday evening.

Medical officers said the three casualties out of 114 examined was unusually low, and showed a fine state of health of the guardsmen in this district.

Last night, all officers and men were tendered a send-off dinner by the Commercial Club. Tonight, open house is planned at the Armory where relatives and friends may call and attend a short program featuring soldier talent. The boys entrain Wednesday at 1 p. m. traveling by sleeper coaches to Indiantown Gap, where they will arrive at 11:15 a. m. Thursday.
